Major Requirements

The German major provides transferrable skills for any career that involves formulating questions and solving problems, especially for students in a wide range of fields such as business, politics, and STEM. Students gain advanced competency in spoken and written German, enhanced cultural expertise, and the ability to work across disciplines. They develop analytical skills through studies of literary, intellectual, and visual culture from the Middle Ages to the present. Emphases include: environmental and urban humanities; Jewish studies; gender and queer studies; philosophy; and performance.

We also offer a minor in Germanics, plus an option in German linguistics.

Study Abroad

- We work individually with students to make study abroad opportunities count toward gaining credit toward their degrees at German, Austrian, and Swiss universities.
- The Germanics Department directly sponsors two study abroad programs:
  - Spring in Vienna (a well-integrated program with a cohort of fellow UW students every spring quarter; application in November);
  - Direct exchange with German universities in Tübingen and Heidelberg.
- Many other study abroad opportunities are available through the Study Abroad Office.
- Study Abroad is strongly encouraged, but not required for the degree.

Honors

You may graduate with departmental honors on your degree by completing ad-hoc honors projects in conjunction with four different courses.
